1. Home Screen: The main index page or homepage contains a main search bar and 4 major filters to classify data i.e. Positive, negative, Factual and opinions.

The screenshot displays the 'Tweet.ly' application interface. At the top, the title 'Tweet.ly' is prominently displayed in a large, white, sans-serif font, followed by the subtitle 'Tweets Sentiment Analysis' in a slightly smaller font. Below the subtitle, a small instruction reads: 'Search for your favorite topic in twitter, using Sentiment filter!'. The main content area is a dark gray rectangle. Inside, the text 'What tweets you want to see!' is followed by the instruction 'Use the sentiment and factual filters below'. A search bar contains the text '#OpenSchoolCollegeUniversity'. Below the search bar are five blue buttons: 'Search Tweets' (centered), 'Positive Tweets' (left), 'Negative Tweets' (left, below Positive), 'Opinion Tweet' (right), and 'Factual Tweet' (right, below Opinion). A 'Reset Filters' button is centered at the bottom of the filter section. A small Twitter bird icon is visible in the top right corner of the main content area.

2. Search Module: This module provides the functionality to search all the p[otential tweets related to the searched entity. It could be anything a hashtag, institution, event, policy, movie , song anything.

1. As I didn't like what I received I made a complaint regarding it and got no satisfactory response. They @SUBWAY are not replying to me anymore, what should i do now? I ordered for my family anf i love subways but this is disappointing. @SUBWAY @zomato please help
2. I ordered 2 subs (Order ID: 3763942553) today from @SUBWAY through @zomato and both the subs were disappointing. The buns were stuffed with veggies and not enough sauces, making it very dry to swallow.

5. Opinion Tweets: This module filters and shows the tweets which are basically the opinion of users regarding the product or entity.
